What is Teleshopping: -

Teleshopping means buying goods and services on telephone. It does not involve correspondence and personal visits. Teleshopping (sometimes known as inside sales, or tale sales in the UK and Ireland) is a method of direct marketing in which a salesperson solicits prospective customers to buy products or services, either over the phone or through a subsequent face to face or Web conferencing appointment scheduled during the call. Customer who feels convinced of the utility of the demonstrated product contact the company on telephone and place orders goods are delivered to buyers through courier or value payable post, Dealer, Distributors, Logistic Partner.

The main advantage of teleshopping is convenience for the customer. The customer can purchase the product without visiting the seller. This saves valuable time, effort and money. Customers can make payment through their debit/credit cards, wallets, net banking or any payment method.
